Kara Coffey

Research Associate at the Harte Research Institute

The Harte Research Institute is one of many partners of the Coastal Bend Children in Nature Network. A local, environmental education organization made up of informal educators that teach children and their families about and in nature.

Kara is a Research Associate for the Socio-Economics Group at the Harte Research Institute. In her role, she works on the connection between the socio-behavioral-economic and ecological systems in the Gulf of Mexico. Prior to joining HRI, Kara worked with AmeriCorps's Texas Conservation Corps as a Youth Crew Leader where she focused on building conservation skills and engaging in environmental education.
