Introduction to Nature Journaling

July 13
2024

9am-12pm

Ages 6-18

Nature Journaling gets you outside and more connected with the natural systems that surround you. Join naturalist Lari Jo Edwards in this self-paced course designed to help you develop your observation and art skills while channeling your creativity. You will discover these field-ready methods that transform your ability to recreate what you see on the pages of your journal. Nature in your own backyard!

Come prepared for the great outdoors: closed-toe shoes, sunscreen, insect repellent, a hat, and a refillable water bottle.

- This program is limited to 15 registered participants.
- The program fee is $20 per child. Parents are not required to stay with their child, but those who wish to register online under the website's Introduction to Nature Journaling—Parent option.
- Online registration is required at <http://register.ccparkandrec.com>.
